

Appendix B — Class / Student Informed Consent

Project

HR Situational Judgment Test. PI: Dr. Christopher Castille. MNGT 425 / MNGT 502 Option A. Exploratory; no PRAMS IDs; no deception; no formal debriefing.

Population / options

Adults 18 years of age or older who are interested in management topics, including: (1) Business students at Nicholls State University, primarily those enrolled in MNGT 425 (HR Analytics) and MNGT 502, for whom participation is offered as an in-class course assignment for credit; and (2) Working employees (any employed adults, preferably those interested in management topics — e.g., professionals, managers, executives), recruited through community / professional outreach. Classroom structure (MNGT 425 / MNGT 502): Students are asked to participate in this study as a course assignment. An equivalent alternative assignment is available: write a qualitative description of how one would respond to each scenario prompt and submit it to the instructor for course credit. Alternative-assignment submissions are used only for grading; they are not included in the main research dataset and are not analyzed as study data at this time (no qualitative analysis pipeline yet). No recruitment flyer is used for students. Participation in research (Option A) versus the alternative (Option B) is the student's choice; both satisfy the assignment for credit.

Procedures

Consent; opaque session ID; optional role; SJT with optional ratings/Skip/notes; optional feedback. Emails only on separate lab form.

Lab directory

HSIRB-approved studies list + stay-informed email: /hsirb/studies/lab/ (not formal data collection).