A Study in Decision Making

You are invited to participate in an exciting, multi-site global research study on organizational decision-making. This study is part of a larger collaborative initiative (ARIM) and has received formal ethics clearance from the Human Subjects Institutional Review Board (HSIRB) at Nicholls State University. The project is being conducted locally by Dr. Christopher Castille (Primary Investigator), Dr. Ann-Marie R. Castille (Co-Investigator), Dr. Samantha Falgout (Co-Investigator), Dr. Kaitlin Gravois (Co-Investigator), and Dr. Adrien Maught (Co-Investigator) from Nicholls State University.

What will I do?

You will be asked to complete a decision-making task involving word puzzles (anagrams) in a classroom or computer lab on the Nicholls State University campus. You will also complete a brief personality scale, task commitment measures, and standard demographics. Participation takes no more than 1 hour of your time.

What are the requirements?

- Must be currently enrolled as a student at Nicholls State University.
- Must be 18 years of age or older.
- Fluent in English and comfortable working on basic word problems.
